MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT AND THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

2008–2009: a year of new initiatives, partnerships and major renovations

Despite a year of obstacles for the arts and culture community in Canada, the CCFM was still able to focus on its mission and achieve success. A new strategic plan was implemented, and the CCFM, through its newly refreshed board of directors, is seeking a more open dialogue between the organization and the community, now that the Centre's construction projects have been completed. The CCFM participated in a number of forums and discussions on the future of the Francophone community and culture this year.

Partnerships gave rise to many joint projects. The opening of an exhibition of works by Pauline Boutal at the CCFM's La galerie held simultaneously with the launch of Louise Duguay's book Pauline Boutal : destin d'artiste [Pauline Boutal: an artist's destiny] was a resounding success. The CCFM worked with Les Éditions du Blé, Célébrations 2008 and the Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface to enable the public to celebrate and recall the accomplishments of Ms. Boutal, a remarkable woman who made a substantial contribution to Franco-Manitoban culture.

In terms of major renovations, fall 2008 marked the beginning of the construction of the Cercle Molière theatre. The facility is slated to open in spring 2010 and is eagerly awaited by the entire community.

With respect to artistic and cultural programming, the CCFM was successful on a number of fronts.

Pauline Boutal hall was sold out two evenings in a row for Daniel Lavoie's Docteur Tendresse concert held as part of the 2008 Coup de cœur series. The performance proved moving for the performer and audience alike. In co-operation with L'Alliance française, the CCFM presented artists of international calibre during its Jazz à la française [French-style jazz] series. The Ferré brothers (a French Gypsy-jazz duo) and New York vocalist Gino Sitson were among the renowned artists who dazzled Winnipeg jazz fans.

Jean-Paul Aubry hall was filled to capacity for a memorable evening to kick off the Festival du Voyageur, and in March, the CCFM held a Cajun-themed evening to recognize and celebrate the involvement and dedication of its many volunteers, with lively entertainment provided by the group Johnny Cajun.

After a year of asbestos removal and renovation, La Galerie reopened its doors with the exhibition Chimères [chimeras], a collection of ethereal works by Vancouver-based artist Sonja Hébert.

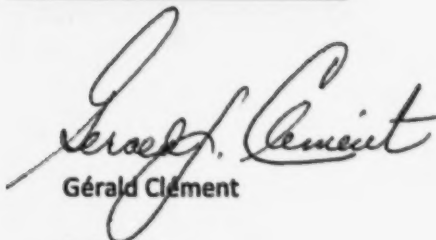

With regard to operations, the building's signage was completely overhauled and is now in line with modern requirements and standards. The fire evacuation plan is up to date. The CCFM is boosting communication efforts in an effort to be more responsive to the wishes of the community, which wants to see the creation of a more welcoming gathering place. The fiscal year ended with a surplus.

All of the above is the result of the commitment of many people. We sincerely thank all those who work with and support us: artists and performers, the board of directors, staff, volunteers, funding agencies, partners and sponsors, as well as our loyal public. A heartfelt thank you goes out to Guy Lévesque, who completed his term as president in the fall.

The arts and culture help us to express who we are as a community and as individuals. To that end, the CCFM, which promotes a wide variety of disciplines, features French-speaking artists and presents French-language artistic creations, concert series and interpretation activities. We must continue to strive to be ever more creative and open in order to better serve our Francophone and emerging artists, and our community. Our wish for the future is that the CCFM will become a focal point and a place of sharing and dialogue, and that it will continue the reflection started in recent forums on the question of culture, with a view to helping expand the Francophone community's cultural space.

Mandate

The Centre culturel franco-manitobain, legally incorporated in 1972, is a Crown corporation of the Province of Manitoba. Its mandate, as stated in Le Centre Culturel Franco-Manitobain Act of July 11, 1972, is to "maintain, encourage, foster, and sponsor by all means available all types of cultural activities, in the French language, and to make available Franco-Canadian culture to all residents of the province."

Vision

Our leadership in the cultural sector and our professional services make the CCFM the preferred venue and partner for French-language cultural and artistic activities in Manitoba.

2008–2009 HIGHLIGHTS

The 2008–2009 year was marked by the launch, development and completion of a number of initiatives related to the CCFM building and to the Centre's programming and involvement with resident groups and the community.

I. PROGRAMMING

A. RESULTS

CCFM programming this year focused on five areas of activity: music, performances, community activities, exhibitions and partnerships. Each area saw tremendous successes that delighted audiences of all ages. Attendance rose from 13,000 spectators to 17,210, an increase of 32%. Some 269 activities were offered and 627 artists performed at the Centre.

It should be noted that Manitoba is one of the provinces the least affected by the economic crisis in Canada (the Canada Council reports 1% growth for 2008–2009). Nevertheless, the performance arts market saw an overall drop in attendance and the sector's market share in Manitoba is 30%, below the Canadian average of 37%. Thus, in terms of attendance, the CCFM is faring better with its target clientele than Manitoba as a whole and is on par with other community arts organizations, despite the fact that it operates in a minority setting. (Sources: Marketing plan, Statistics Canada and Canadian performing arts studies).

These extremely encouraging results are due to the choice of performers both local and international, the diversification of programming undertaken four years ago, the CCFM's functional spaces, which are now completely operational, and the Centre's motivated and effective staff. Appealing to a broader audience has also had a positive impact on the results.

B. MUSIC

The 2008–2009 program included several series of performances, some of them in partnership with other organizations. Agreements enabled the CCFM to present artists from France and the United States, a reflection of the Centre's ability to bring in performers from all disciplines and to help spread Francophone culture around the world.

1) Fête de la musique [World Music Day], second edition

Thanks to funding from Célébrations 2008 marking the celebration of the incorporation of the City of St. Boniface and Quebec City's 400th anniversary, and a partnership with L'Alliance française and Radio-Canada, World Music Day 2008 drew 500 spectators and 110 volunteer performers despite the rain. This was the second time that Winnipeg and the CCFM participated in this major international event. Groups and performers as eclectic as Batuque Percussions & Hand Drum Rhythms (who played during workshops offered by folklore school L'École folklorique de la Rivière-Rouge), Les Six Croches, Six-Sone and Summer Bear Dance Troop & Hoop Dancer, not to mention L'Ensemble folklorique de la Rivière-Rouge itself, gave performances throughout the entire day at the CCFM. National Aboriginal Day also fell on the same day and this was reflected in the programming. In addition, three workshops were offered dealing with an introduction to music and music appreciation.

2) Coup de cœur francophone

Founded in Montreal in 1987, Coup de cœur francophone is a festival dedicated to the discovery and promotion of Francophone musical talent in Canada. Every November in Montreal and some 30 cities across the country, the festival features national and international artists whose production is based on discovery, daring and creation. The CCFM is one of nine partners in the Coup de cœur network.

Daniel or the Return of the Star

One of our best known Franco-Canadian performers is Daniel Lavoie, who has enjoyed a rich and diverse career and won numerous accolades for his compositions and charismatic performances. Born in Dunrea, Daniel returned to his native Manitoba after a 10-year absence with a new show to promote his 19th album, Docteur Tendresse, as part of an eight-concert tour orchestrated by Coup de cœur francophone in co-operation with the Librairie Renaud-Bray bookstore chain. Nadia Gaudet, winner of the Chant'Ouest competition in 2002, finalist at the Granby international song festival in 2003 and named one of French CBC's most talented new performers (Sacré Talent!) in 2004, opened for Lavoie, thrilling the audience with her lyrical piano playing and graceful and pure singing voice. Nadia's songs explore her inner world and the realm of raw emotion.

Swing or urban folk

The group Swing has been entralling audiences with its urban folk rock for over eight years now, blending swing and traditional music. The group presented its third album, Tradarnac, at the CCFM. The band has come a long way since 2001, the year in which two colourful characters—one a pure Nashville rhythm and blues fanatic and the other a seasoned musician and virtuoso fiddle player—met for the first time. In short, their performance was a moment of pure pleasure for the 1,500 spectators who took in either the public concert or one of the shows offered during the three days of performances for DSFM and immersion schools.

Andrea Lindsay or the revelation of the year

It's difficult not to succumb to the charm of this Anglophone singer-songwriter originally from Guelph. Lindsay herself fell head over heels for the language of Molière and began writing and performing original music in French. The CCFM audience was treated to Lindsay's unique style, a subtle mix of Petula Clark, Vanessa Paradis and Carla Bruni, not to mention other influences such as pop music, the Beatles and, of course, the music of Tuesday 5, her first English-language duet with Jennifer Bacchet. In short, a unique timbre of voice, sensitive lyrics, catchy melodies and an inspired musical soundscape that radiates warmth and intimacy; a performance as visually and acoustically pleasing as it was emotionally powerful.

3) Mârdi jazz: the ambiance of a Parisian or New York jazz club at the CCFM

A Winnipeg institution for 30 years, Mârdi jazz did very well this year with 3,316 spectators, 255 musicians and 49 shows. Even the Christmas and New Year's Day holiday couldn't keep the city's jazz aficionados away! Mârdi jazz offers the whole gamut of instruments and styles: solo performers, trios, quartets, big bands, quintets, pianists, guitarists, sax and brass players. From Papa Mambo's Latin jazz to Greg Lowe's fusion jazz, performers delighted audiences with their virtuosic playing and friendly demeanour in Antoine Gaborieau hall, the CCFM's cosy jazz club. Judge for yourself from the following praise received for performers who played the club:

"What a great way to relax at the end of a day. Ron Paley? Wonderful! And his French isn't bad either. Who's in charge of programming? KUDOS!!!" New York, philanthropist, early 50s

"Yay, Ben!! My favourite place to come when I'm in Winnipeg. Merci!" Lynn Sharples, 60, prof, Le Pradet, France

"The CCFM is known as an organization that is vital to the development of jazz music in Winnipeg."

"An extraordinary group (Michelle Grégoire). Top notch. Excellent selection of pieces."

C. COMMUNITY

1) Ligue d'improvisation du Manitoba (LIM) [Franco-Manitoban improvisation league]

The suspense has long since ended—the Reds defeated the Yellows in the 2008–2009 LIM finals, but season 19 was a cliff-hanger, with the Greens, Yellows and Blues each vying for first place in heated and stimulating matches. To add to the excitement, 142 spectators came out for the finals. Attendance from October 2008 to March 2009 totalled 1,268. In addition, two members of Montreal's Ligue Nationale d'Improvisation—Maryvonne Cyr and Daniel Malenfant—put on theatre workshops for the general public and the Ligue d'improvisation secondaire [high school improvisation league] on January 10 and 11, owing to a successful partnership established in 2008. The two also participated enthusiastically in off-season matches organized in honour of their visit.

2) Quelques arpents de piège [Trivial Pursuit]

After 10 years of good and loyal service as emcee, Edward Humphrey passed the torch on to the youthful and friendly Yan Dallaire. The highly popular gatherings are held the first Friday of each month. Two hundred and twenty-six friends, colleagues, teachers and employees of various organizations came out to this social event to gauge their knowledge in a relaxed setting. The evening is divided into three parts and covers six categories (geography, entertainment, history, art & literature, science & nature, and sports & leisure), not to mention community and current-events questions prepared by the emcee.

3) L'Ensemble folklorique de la Rivière-Rouge

Created in 1947, L'Ensemble folklorique de la Rivière-Rouge (EFRR) offers performances that feature traditional French-Canadian music, song and dance. The fiddle, spoons and bones evoke the music and rhythms of days gone by. The group also promotes the creation of original choreography and musical arrangements to keep French-Canadian folklore alive. Its activities include school programming and a folklore school (L'École folklorique de la Rivière-Rouge). The EFRR has been an integral part of CCFM programming since 2007–2008. The highlights of the 2008–2009 year are as follows:

- Participation in the Francoforce show under the Provencher Park dome;
- Performances at the French-Canadian Pavilion during Folklorama with La Bardasse and Les Six croches in front of more than 4,000 people;
- Participation in Festival du Voyageur activities at the Rivière-Rouge Trading Post, the Sugar Shack and the Club Regent casino with groups La Bardasse, Les Six croches and Coulée;
- The folklore school's annual recital;
- Presentation of dance workshops in over 30 schools.

4) Folklorama

The CCFM is home to the French-Canadian pavilion during Winnipeg's traditional Folklorama, an international cultural festival celebrated city-wide in August. The Ensemble folklorique de la Rivière-Rouge presented its latest dance creations to audiences who were happy to sample the delicious cuisine of our French ancestors.

5) Volunteer Recognition Night

A first for the CCFM and a great success according to all those in attendance. Over 120 volunteers answered the call in March 2009 and came out for an evening of food and music organized exclusively in their honour. Like many other community organizations, the CCFM could not survive without the dedication and involvement of its volunteers, so we wanted to thank them in a special way. The group Johnny Cajun was given the job of getting people up and dancing with its lively Cajun rock music.

D. SHOWS

1) "Young audience" series

Fun for kids

In 2008–2009, the CCFM continued the new series of performances geared to Franco-phone youth that was wildly successful last year.

Lili and Virus

A thousand students from Français and immersion schools and members of the general public were entertained by the humorous Lise Maurin, North America's only Franco-phone ventriloquist. Maurin gave an incredible performance that engaged the audience and was equally well received by the chaperones and teachers. The shows featured a cast of characters in an extraordinary adventure set in the heart of Africa. A huge success that will hopefully become a tradition!

2) Santa's Village

30 years of magic

This year, to celebrate his exceptional longevity, Santa charmed young and old alike by donning his fanciest clothes and offering a comprehensive learning program comprised of games, singing and dancing—in French, of course! The CCFM was transformed into Santa's Village from December 1 to 20, and 2,409 students from DSFM and immersion schools, along with 736 other participants (teachers, chaperones, corporate guests, etc.), told Santa their secret wishes in the language of Molière. Children, parents and teachers were treated to a marionette show in a warm and enchanting setting. Even the Three Little Pigs were there, along with the Big Bad Wolf, who wasn't so mean after all!

E. VISUAL ARTS

1) École des jeunes artistes [school for young artists]

Creating is fun at the École des jeunes artistes

Once again in 2008–2009, the CCFM held art classes for children aged 6 to 13. Colette Balcaen, a well-known Francophone teacher and artist, shared her artistic knowledge with the children. In addition to introducing her young charges to basic art techniques and local art, she is able to identify and prepare the community's next generation of artists. The children discover the joy of working on visual creations using gouache, charcoal, watercolour and ink. This year's theme was "houses."

2) Exhibitions

With the renovation of La galerie completed, the CCFM was able to resume its role in the visual arts world with the following exhibitions:

- Works from the CCFM's permanent collection;
- Chimères exhibition by Canadian artist Sonja Hébert;
- Mon pays noir sur blanc [my country in black and white] collection of photos by Roger Turenne, CCFM collection;
- Works by Pauline Boutal.

3) Permanent collection

A work by Pauline Boutal added to the permanent collection

The Deremiens family from Laurier wanted to add a work by Pauline Boutal to the CCFM's collection. Thank you, Thérèse, Lydia, Joe and Guy for your generous gesture.

The CCFM now has more than 231 works in its permanent collection. Several of these hang on the walls of the CCFM, while the rest of the collection is safely tucked away in the Heritage Centre vault. Varied, rich and abundant, the collection is made up of works that reflect the boundless creativity of Manitoban visual artists past and present.

F. LITERATURE

Le Foyer des écrivains

Spotlight on literature

As the Francophone component of THIN AIR (Winnipeg International Writers Festival), the Foyer des écrivains consists of a series of events showcasing and connecting writers and avid readers during the month of September.

September 24 involved an evening of readings, interviews and Scotch in Antoine Gaborieau hall. The presentation of Daniel Marchildon's mouth-watering book L'eau de vie was paired with a Scotch-tasting event, to rave reviews!

La Plume et le Pinceau [the pen and the brush], an evening of visual and literary improvisation, took place on September 25. La Plume et le Pinceau has been bringing authors and visual artists from Canada's Francophone community together since 2004. Based on similar games at the Trois-Rivières international poetry festival, the event gives writers and visual artists an opportunity to produce original works of art following a few basic rules and using very simple tools: large sheets of paper, pencils, charcoal and pastels. Authors and visual artists are twinned for the first round and then switch partners for subsequent rounds. A collection of works by previous participants was published in co-operation with Les Éditions du Blé. Entitled Le soleil est la première machine [the sun is the first machine], the book offers a selection of improvised creations representing all participants and pays tribute to this important collaborative effort of Franco-Canadian artists.

Finally, on September 26, Manitoba poets Lise Gaboury-Diallo and Laurent Poliquin presented their books in what constituted an emotionally and intellectually stimulating event in Antoine Gaborieau hall.

G. PARTNERSHIPS

1) A new theatre for Le Cercle Molière

The CCFM and Le Cercle Molière form a joint committee to oversee the construction and implementation of the new theatre. The official opening is set for spring 2010. By the end of May 2009, the amount raised by the community was just shy of the goal of $2 million, thanks to the amazing work done by Senator Maria Chaput and the dozens of volunteers who have participated in the project, as well as the community's extreme generosity.

As set out in the 2008–2012 strategic plan, a complete overhaul of all CCFM signage was conducted while taking into account the temporary needs created by the construction of the new theatre.

C. FIRE/SAFETY PLAN

The plan was prepared to provide the swiftest and most effective evacuation plan possible for anyone—staff, members of the public and volunteers—who might potentially find themselves inside the CCFM in the event of a fire or other hazard. ## AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba
To the Board of Directors of Le Centre culturel franco-manitobain

We have audited the statement of financial position of Le Centre culturel franco-manitobain as at March 31, 2009, and the statements of operations and changes in fund balances and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the corporation's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the corporation as at March 31, 2009, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.
